

Signatures were collected using an online form circulated between January 25 and February 11.

February 12, 2021:

The undersigned faculty of the Department of Linguistics acknowledge that Unit 1 of CUPE 3902 (Teaching Assistants, Course Instructors, and Invigilators) is bargaining with the University of Toronto. CUPE 3902's main priorities for this round of bargaining are to improve workload standards, foster inclusion and anti-oppression at U of T, increase compensation and job security, and promote (mental) health and safety. As faculty members in the Department of Linguistics, we support our graduate students/CUPE 3902's attempt to demand a fair, safe, and just workplace at the University of Toronto.

Barend Beekhuizen

Susana Bejar

Prof. M. Cristina Cuervo

Derek Denis

Atiqa Hachimi, Associate Professor

Peter Jurgec

Arsalan Kahnemuyipour

Dave Kush

Suzi Lima (Assistant Professor)

Pedro Mateo

Philip J. Monahan

Keir Moulton, Assistant Professor, Linguistics

Naomi Nagy, Professor

Avery Ozburn

Keren Rice

Nathan Sanders, Assistant Professor, Teaching Stream

Jessamyn Schertz

Guillaume Thomas